

Startup Investing 101 & Cleantech Investment Trends

Virtual Investor-in-Residence Event
Tuesday, November 17, 2020
12:00 PM – 1:30 PM

Join Washington Clean Energy Testbeds Investor-in-Residence (IIR), Jeff Canin, and his fellow E8 board members for a casual, open discussion about the state of cleantech investing. E8 is a member organization of private, accredited angel investors committed to the environment and taking positive action against climate change. Jeff will kick off the 3rd year of the IIR program with a review of the fundamentals of startup fundraising, and E8's veteran cleantech investors, Lee Otis and Eric Berman, will provide updates on current trends in cleantech investing.

About the Investor-in-Residence Program

The IIR program, led by Jeff Canin, provides free consultations on funding proposals, investor pitches, financial strategy, fundraising, and strategic partnerships to cleantech entrepreneurs and startups. Jeff is on the board of E8, a member organization of private, accredited angel investors committed to the environment and taking positive action against climate change, and serves as E8's fund manager. Jeff's career includes extensive experience in financial services and venture capital. His current efforts are focused on providing advisory services to early-stage companies and university technology commercialization spinouts.

Jeff Canin is available for virtual office hours by appointment. Send meeting requests to wcet@uw.edu
